From our leader, Doffy B

Hello my quilting friends,

I'm sitting here watching the maple leaves fall from the trees while enjoying the lovely sunshine streaming through our dining room window. There is no doubt that the colder weather will be soon be constantly with us, thus I like to take advantage of each small token of warmth that mother nature bestows upon us.

We had a good QTYW last Saturday. There were 13 members there at different times during the day. Julie, Monica and I closed our sewing machines around 7pm and headed home. I think everyone was able to accomplish some of what they had planned. I know that Geri Lou finished three 'broken wheel' blocks for the block challenge, so she is ready for November for sure. I managed to complete the rest of the luggage tags for the sales table and am glad that they are done!

Our next meeting will be the discussion of our budget for 2019-2020. Lynda has that well organized and I don't think that the process will take up all of the evening.

Well, I'm going out to rake those leaves. Raking leaves is a favorite memory from my childhood. We would rake up huge piles of leaves and drop them over the edge of the lawn...then spend the next few days jumping down I to them. I now know why our Dad encouraged this activity - we were breaking down the leaves into smaller bits for mulch. Smart man!

See you next Monday,

"Live well, laugh often, love much"

Workshop – Dawn P and Doffy B

Please remember to sign up for Dianne's November 16th workshop at TRU. Dianne has made the pattern up as a table runner (see below) but says that it can be adapted to any size. The workshop cost is $35.00. See Doffy at the next meeting for details.

Block Lotto Anyone? – Julie O

The November block is from quilterscache and is called Broken Wheel. As you saw from my samples I would like these to be in any shade of yellow for the background and either the purple or blue family for the wheel components. This is an easier pattern than last month and makes up fast. Have fun.

Hospitality – Esther T & Judy T

Program – Judy N

No program on Monday October 28 due to business and budget meeting. Watch for gift idea demos and guest speaker in November.
